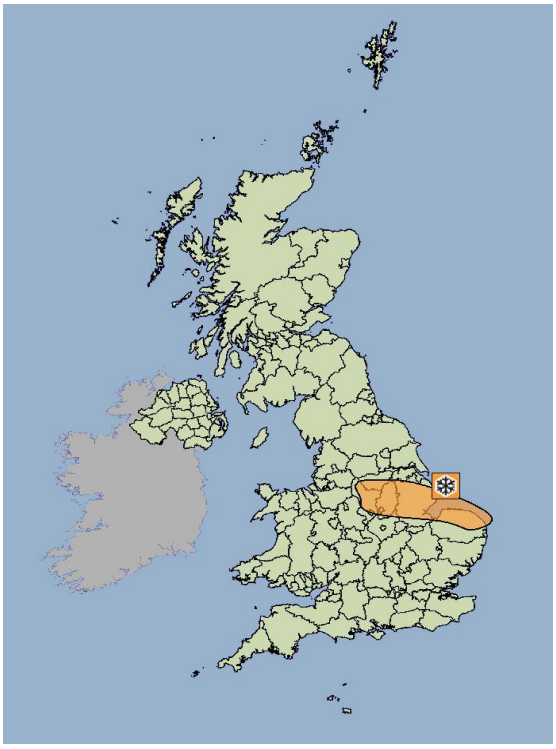
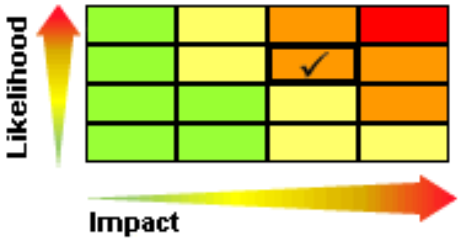
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A band of heavy snow showers will continue across the area well into this afternoon, with a further 5-10 cm of snow accumulating in a number of places, and locally 15 cm where snow showers are most frequent. Strong winds will lead to drifting of lying snow, along with severe wind chill, whilst lightning will be an additional hazard, particularly near coasts.

The snow showers should ease later in the afternoon.

The Met Office have issued an Amber Warning of Snow

Valid from 10:40 on Wed, 28th Feb 2018 until 16:00 on Wed, 28th Feb 2018

Frequent heavy snow showers will continue for much of today.

Travel delays on roads are very likely, with snow perhaps leading to some stranded vehicles and passengers; delays or cancellations to rail and air travel are also likely. Some rural communities could become cut off briefly. Power cuts may also occur and other services, such as mobile phones, may be affected.
